You may wonder why you need to have a Specific Scientific Chiropractic Re-Assessment (SSCA).

It's important to always have a current indication of how your body is changing with specific, scientific chiropractic adjustments. As you are adjusted, your structure changes and the SSCA monitors exactly how your body is changing. This allows me to give you optimal adjustments tailored specifically for your changing body.

The SSCA also shows me how stressors (physical, emotional, or chemical) affect your body and allow me to better help you.

The assessment will only take a few minutes before your next adjustment while you are waiting for your name to be called. I look forward to seeing the changes and being able to care for you more specifically and scientifically.
